Master of Science in Management and Organizational Leadership (M.S.M.O.L.)

(30 credits)

The Master of Science in Management and Organizational Leadership, under the Tagliatela School of Business and Leadership, is a graduate professional degree designed for students to gain knowledge and skills for managing organizational change in the context of dynamic technological and global environments. The program supports the advancement of working professionals in corporate, non-profit, and public organizational environments. The M.S. in Management and Organizational Leadership focuses on leadership as a relational process that is inclusive of diverse points of view, is purposeful and builds commitment towards a shared vision. Participants are encouraged to develop a type of leadership that is rooted in service to others with reciprocal trust and ethical behavior.

Mission

The mission of the Master of Science in Management and Organizational Leadership at Albertus Magnus College is to provide an educational experience that offers its participants ample opportunity to learn about and practice leadership in a nurturing and intellectually invigorating environment while also providing them with the tools to apply their newfound knowledge to their organizations and community.

Vision

The Master of Science in Management and Organizational Leadership endorses leadership as a relational process that is inclusive of diverse points of view, is purposeful, and builds commitment towards a shared vision. Graduates will attain not just a master's degree, but also the means and drive to become the best leaders and team members they can be.

Upon completing the program of study in Management and Organizational Leadership, students will:

- Demonstrate skills in quantitative analysis, conflict resolution, information literacy, decision-making, scientific method and leadership.
- Demonstrate knowledge of management principles, quality management, organizational behavior, international and global business, organizational management, business ethics and human resource management.
- Demonstrate critical thinking skills in conducting research including developing hypotheses, conducting research, evaluating research methods, analyzing data and interpreting and presenting findings.

- Demonstrate creative thinking skills in strategically applying learning from diverse disciplines to real world issues.

The Master of Science Management and Organizational Leadership is accredited by the State of Connecticut Office of Higher Education.

Program Format

Classes are offered in five, eight-week modules during the calendar year. All classes are fully online.

Academic Advisement

Admitted students are assigned a faculty advisor, typically the program director. Together the student and advisor will develop a program of study. Throughout the program the advisor will assist students with course planning, registration and regular academic review.

Course Load

Students may register for no more than 6 credits per mod.

Graduation Requirements

Students are responsible for reviewing the program requirements for their specific catalog year, fulfilling those requirements, and maintaining regular communication with the program director. To earn a graduate degree from Albertus Magnus College, students must successfully complete all program requirements and achieve a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0. All requirements must be completed within seven years of matriculation, beginning with the module or semester in which the student starts their first course in the program. Graduate courses that exceed the time limit no longer count toward meeting program requirements, including transferred courses.

Graduation with Honors

Master’s degree candidates who have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.90 are awarded honors and will have the notation included on their transcript and diploma.
